CONTRIBUTORS OF LEADING ARTICLES IN THIS ISSUE

HENRY H. GLASSIE was in 1908 Counsel for the Joint Congressional Commission on the Revision of Postal Laws; from 1903 to 1907, and again in 1921, Special Assistant to the Attorney-General of the United States; and from 1914 to 1921, Attorney in Charge of Land Litigations in the District of Columbia.

CHARLES WARREN was from 1914 to 1918 Assistant Attorney-General of the United States and had charge during that period of all legal matters in the Department of Justice connected with international affairs, insular possessions, neutrality, and the investigation and prosecution of German criminal activities in this country. He drafted the Trading with the Enemy Act, the Espionage Act, and the Alien Enemy Regulations contained in the President's War Proclamation of April 6, 1917. He is the author of The Supreme Court in United States History (1922).

EDGAR WATKINS is an Atlanta lawyer, a large part of whose practice is before the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Federal Trade Commission. He was Attorney for the Interstate Commerce Commission from 1914 to 1917, and is now Attorney for the American Wholesale Grocers' Association. He is the author of Shippers and Carriers (3d ed. 1921).

T. P. ARTAUD has from 1914 to the present been the Supervisor of Land Appraisals in the Bureau of Valuation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, of which Bureau he is now the Executive Assistant.
